She urs, and about noon went to the nearest drug store, where she purchased twenty-five grains of mo phine. After swallowing the whole of the drug she went down into the tailor shop and took a seat by the stove. Something in her manner alarmed the tailor and his wife, and the latter begged to know what was the matter. Mrs. Jessup declined to answer, and the unfavorable symptoms at first noticed inout for a physician. Dr. Graves, the secre-tary of the Board of Health, was found at the stationhouse, and bringing his stom-ach-pump into requisition soon suc-ceeded in ridding the lady's system of the drug. Mr. Jessup was as much surprised as he was grieved to hear of his wife's rash act, and everything is now as it should be between them. CLOSING OF THE MISSION emu Requiem and Panegyric, close on to-morrow. Confession, in all the ordinary languages, will be heard all day to-day and alice the lecture to-night.

The services have been very weil attended, and the good fathers may be well pleased with the results of their great labors since the mission was opened. The discourse last night was on the "Spirit of the Age," which the very reverend lecture was a supplemental to the control of the control o urer characterized as one of insubordina-tion to all authority, human and divine. The "do as you please, but not to be found out" prevails almost everywhere. The discourse was a very telling one. Authority must be respected and rule, else this age will continue its evil course nto destruction of society.

It is announced that on to-morrow there rill be a solemn requiem with a panegyric or the deceased priests and benefactors f St. Brigid's church and congregation the mission. All who attended it and re-ceived the sacraments are to be present to receive the papal benediction and mission indulgence, which will be imparted imediately after the discourse at 7:45 clock p.m. The services will then con

—At Lucy Station Monday evening a A short time since Chairman C. E. Smith, of the County Court, made a requisition upon the Chancery clerk and master for all of the uncalled for fees remaining in his hands, and obtained, among other funds, nearly $3000 belonging to depositors in the Gayoso Savings Bank, which went to pieces here about seventeen years ago. Suit was brought by Jno. C. Lanier and the assets of the bank thrown into Chancery. Some property was obtained, and when turned into money a considerable sum realized for distribution among the creditors of the bank. The time intervening between the breaking of the bank and the recovery of the money was so long that hundreds of people lost all hope and paid no attention to, admitting that they knew of, the Chancery proceedings. Mr. J. A. S. Monks's etching, "Crossing the Pasture," which is given to all subscribers to the Magazine of Art for 1885, is as tempting a bait as a publisher ever held out to an art-loving public. Mr. Monks's water color drawing from which he made this etching was recently exhibited at the National Academy of Design, where it attrated a great deal of attention and praise. In the etching the effect of color is wonderfully well given, and to a certain extent the work of the needle is more pleasing than that of the brush. The feeling of twilight is caught with more success in the etching, and the superior quality of the sheep's wool is shown with great fidelity. There is a great deal of charming sentiment in this picture, which when appropriately framed will be an attraction to any wall, or in a portfolio will honor any collection. Cassell & Co. New York

F. J. Truesdell, Druggist, Conneaut, O., report a came as follows: The patient's head was almost and the dry scales constantly falling his head making his shoulders white in a few with his head, burning and itebing and a terrib headache all the time. Took three bottles of R. Curicura Soar, and was cured. Head is as experted the state of the control of the south to make the position of the black race not that of "freedmen," but of "free men."

James S. Mahaffy, at 356 Main street, has a fine stock of Bibles and Jouble New Testaments, containing the new and old versions compared. He also has all the publications of the Baptist Church, many of which are from the press of the Bookhouse, of which he is the proprietor. But persons of all denominations will find something on his shelves to suit them, enpecially just now, during the Christmas holidays.

The first chapter of E. P. Roe's latest serial story, "An Original Belle," written for The Current, appeared in its issue of December 6th. A thorough review of the work justifies the positive assertion that this story will be found the most important of all the works of this most popular of authors. It is original in conception, noble in motive, broad in treatment, and intensely fascinating as a whole.

The article on "The American Type" in the issue of The Current for December 6th, by the Rev. Dr. Horatio Nelson Powers, of Connecticut, is remarkable for the skill with which he brings out the points of his picture. He perceives there is something distinctive in the American character and his analysis of the peculiarities of the type is so clear and thorough that the paper will serve a formula for the novelists and dramatists.

Two or three anachronisms have been charged to Mr. Howells's new story, "The Rise of Silas Lapham," because one of the characters speaks of Daisy Millerism before Henry James's novel appeared, and another is described as using a type-writer.
